

Empowering Your Business with a Unified Cloud-Based Communications Platform

What is AO: Communications?

AO: Communications is a unified, cloud-based communications platform, guaranteed to increase the productivity of your employees, lower your IT costs, and revolutionize the way your organization conducts business. By harnessing the power of the cloud, AO: Communications brings together all the different ways your business communicates: from your desk and mobile phone, to your mobile computer, your email, fax, documents, spreadsheets, and so much more. Completely scalable to fit the needs and size of your business, AO: Communications combines the messaging and collaboration benefits of Google Apps, and voice and video integration capabilities of cutting edge Unified Communication, powered by esnatech. The entire AO: Communications solution is managed and supported by AccuCode, and packaged into one low, predictable monthly cost per user. With AO: Communications your technology will always be current, every time you use it, and you'll never have to go through another grueling upgrade cycle.

AO: Communications empowers and connects your organization, as if all of your employees were always in the exact same building, at the exact same time. This cloud-based communications platform combines the very latest in business communication and collaboration technology, with no fixed infrastructure, up-front capital investment, or long-term commitment.

“With AO: Communications, your office doesn't just have to be at work -- it can be anywhere with an Internet connection. What are you waiting for?”

Top Benefits for Your Business

AccuCode acts as an extension of your IT department, eliminates the need for all your old legacy communication systems, and provides you with immediate cost savings -- whether you are a 10 person law firm, 300 person accounting firm, 1,000 person marketing firm, 5,000 person retail organization, or 30,000 person university. Check out some of the top reasons your business should start taking advantage of what AO: Communications has to offer.

- ✓ Fully Managed: Remove the burden on your IT Staff to manage, maintain and update the platform in-house. No more outdated software, or paying and waiting for future releases. All implementation, training and support is provided entirely by AccuCode and included in your monthly fee.
- ✓ Guaranteed Accessibility: Instantly access any of your old or new voice mails, documents, spreadsheets, emails, calendar events, presentations -- just to name a few -- from any mobile device or computer with an Internet connection.
- ✓ Considerably Reduced IT Costs: One low and predictable monthly cost per user with all service and support included. You'll significantly and immediately reduce your IT equipment and operation costs by eliminating those expensive legacy servers
- ✓ One Unified Communication Platform: Access any voicemail through your email; enable all employees, including virtual team members, to communicate more efficiently and effectively, as all types of messages are delivered through just one platform.
- ✓ Real-Time Visibility and Communication: Drastically improve your business communication and collaboration on projects, documents, spreadsheets and more. Whether in the field or the office, instantly update, share and revise in real-time and avoid the hassle of constantly having to re-save and re-send.
- ✓ True Mobility for All Employees: Immediately communicate in a new, virtual way with all your employees and mobile workers, at their exact point of work -- regardless of whether they have an email address, desk, or phone extension today.

CONTACT ACCUCODE TODAY

(866) 705-9879
communications-info@accucode.com
www.accucode.com/ao-communications

Scan Me

